Awarded

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS

"For extraordinary heroism in action near Marchéville, France, September 26, 1918. Being second in command of the assaulting troops, he displayed great bravery and rare initiative. While under terrific artillery and machine-gun fire he reorganized scattered units, established and organized positions in depth, set up liaison from front to rear, and in hand-to-hand fighting personally led his men, inspiring in them a confidence and tenacity of purpose that were productive of success.

"He is also awarded an oak-leaf cluster to be worn with the distinguished service cross for the following act of extraordinary heroism in action near Beaumont, France, November 10, 1918: Commanding his regiment, he personally led the advance of his front line, under a heavy artillery and machine-gun fire, and gained the absolute confidence of his troops by his example of courage and coolness."

CLASS OF 1908

Entered June 16, 1904; graduated Feb. 14, 1908.

Subsequent to the graduation of this class, an error was discovered in the published standing of Alexander L. James, its correction advancing him from No. 41 to No. 25, with a corresponding loss of one file in each of the intervening numbers, (see Memorandum Order, Hdqrs. U. S. M. A., April 27, 1909). In Volume V of this Register, the relative positions of Sward and Hayes were given incorrectly. These errors are now corrected.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL

"For exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous services. As a regimental commander during the St. Mihiel offensive and the Meuse-Argonne offensive, he displayed conspicuous efficiency, marked aggressiveness, and leadership. By his exceptional technical and executive ability he solved many perplexing problems, although much handicapped by losses in men, material, and animals. He at all times rendered invaluable support to the attacking Infantry and proved to be a material factor in the result achieved.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL

"For exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services. As commanding officer of the Air Service production and assembly center at Romorantin, he displayed peculiar administrative ability in coordinating the work of the many different elements at the largest Air Service project in the American Expeditionary Forces. The satisfactory results obtained at Romorantin were due largely to his tireless energy and skill in supervising and directing its operation. His example established a spirit of teamwork and accomplishment which were most marked."

KILLED IN ACTION, JULY 18, 1918, NEAR SOISSONS, FRANCE; AGED 32.

Awarded posthumously

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS

"For extraordinary heroism in action near Soissons, France, July 18, 1918. His exhibition of dash and courage in leading an assaulting line against enemy machine-gun nests under terrific artillery fire and the successful protection of his left flank, which became exposed when liaison was broken, aided materially the success of the whole attack. He was killed by shell fire while leading his battalion in the assault."

Awarded

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS

"For extraordinary heroism in action near Cheppy, France, September 26, 1918. He displayed conspicuous courage, coolness, energy, and intelligence in directing the advance of his brigade down the valley of the Aire. Later he rallied a force of disorganized infantry and led it forward behind the tanks under heavy machine-gun and artillery fire until he was wounded. Unable to advance further, he continued to direct the operations of his unit until all arrangements for turning over the command were completed."

Awarded

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL

"For exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services. By his energy and sound judgment he rendered very valuable services in his organization and direction of the Tank Center at the Army schools at Langres. In the employment of Tank Corps troops in combat he displayed high military attainments, zeal, and marked adaptability in a form of warfare comparatively new to the American Army."

Awarded

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL

"For exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services. With exceptionally sound judgment and marked initiative he displayed a wide comprehension of existing conditions, solving perplexing problems connected with the establishment and operation of the storage system of the Ordnance Department of the American Expeditionary Forces. He opened first a base, then an intermediate depot, and later an advance depot, accomplishing these tasks in spite of numerous obstacles. At all times showing tireless energy, he worked to insure an adequate supply of ordnance material for the troops at the front."

*Son of Colonel M. F. Harmon, Class of 1880.

CLASS OF 1911

Entered June 15, 1907; graduated June 13, 1911.

After the graduation of this class, an error was discovered in the marks of John E. Hatch, and his correct class standing is No. 16 instead of No. 20 as originally published. This involves corresponding changes in the standing of C. A. Walker to H. F. Nichols inclusive, which changes have been made in this volume.

CROIX DE GUERRE

and cited: "On October 4, 1918, showed great contempt of danger, exposing himself continually to artillery and machine gun fire; affording an example to all. Made a reconnoissance in No Man's Land under very difficult conditions and obtained information which contributed greatly to the success of the operations undertaken."

Awarded

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS

"For extraordinary heroism in action at Vierzy, France, July 18, 1918. At a critical time in the battle, when information was difficult to obtain, Lieut.-Col. Hall, brigade adjutant, volunteered to report on the fighting in Vierzy, which was then in the hands of the enemy. Accompanying a group of French tanks, he entered the town under intense fire, and during the advance went forward through machine gun fire and carried to safety a wounded man. He assisted materially in maintaining organization among the troops and established a first-aid station at which many wounded were cared for, returning later to brigade headquarters with valuable information."

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS

"For extraordinary heroism in action near Villers-devant-Dun, France, November 1, 1918. During darkness he led his battalion in an attack under heavy artillery and machine-gun fire. Upon reaching a hill he exposed himself to heavy fire to reconnoiter personally the enemy position, and then, although wounded by a machine-gun bullet, heroically led his battalion in their advance, refusing to be evacuated, inspiring his men by his personal courage."

"For exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services. As a member of the American Military Commission of Italy from April to July, 1918, he displayed tact and diplomacy in making a preliminary investigation of the Czecho-Slovak situation. Later, as commanding officer of the 7th Engineers, he participated creditably in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives, materially aiding in the operations of the 5th Division by his skill in constructing bridges across the Meuse River in the face of desperate hostile resistance."

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS

"For extraordinary heroism in action near Cierges, France, October, 4, 1918. The assault battalion, 7th Infantry, having been halted by heavy machine-gun and artillery fire, Maj. Weaver personally placed four machine guns and the 1-pounder in position and directed their fire in close cooperation with the Infantry. In performing this act Maj. Weaver was forced to cross three times an area exposed to heavy machine-gun fire, in which no less than 50 men had been previously killed or wounded. His heroic efforts enabled the Infantry to advance and insured the success of this operation."

KILLED IN ACTION, OCT. 15, 1918, IN FRANCE: AGED 28.

Awarded posthumously

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS

"For extraordinary heroism in action near les Franquete Farm, France, July 23, 1918. After part of his battalion had already entered an open field before les Franquete Farm, enemy machine guns suddenly opened fire from several points, and at the same time hidden mines in the field were exploded. Maj. Smyth constantly exposed himself to great personal danger while getting his men into the best available cover and reorganizing his position."

(MILITARY AVIATOR, APRIL 23, 1919)

at San Francisco, Cal., Assistant Department Air Service Officer, Western Department, from July 29, 1919; participated in Transcontinental Reliability and Endurance Test to New York City, Oct. 8 to 11:

Awarded

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS

"For extraordinary heroism in action during the St. Mihiel offensive September 26, 1918. Although he had received orders to go to the United States, he begged for and received permission to serve with a pursuit squadron at the front. Subordinating himself to men of lower rank, he was attached to a squadron as a pilot and saw conditions and arduous service through the offensive. As a result of his efficient work he was promoted to the position of flight commander. Knowing that another attack was to take place in the vicinity of Verdun, he remained on duty in order to take part. On the day of the attack west of the Meuse, while with his patrol over enemy lines, a number of enemy aircraft were encountered. In the combat that followed he succeeded in bringing down two enemy planes. In his ardor and enthusiasm he became separated from his patrol while following another enemy far beyond the lines. His gasoline giving out, he was forced to land and managed to land within friendly territory. Through these acts he became an inspiration and example to all men with whom he was associated."

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS

"For extraordinary heroism in action in the Bois d'Aigremont, France, July 15, 1918. During the intense artillery bombardment preceding the German drive of July 15, when the wounded were so numerous that it was impossible to care for them in the dressing stations, Maj. Paschal voluntarily gave up his dugout for the use of the wounded and exposed himself to the heavy fire for 10 hours. After crossing the Marne, this officer placed himself in the front line, in spite of the severe artillery barrage, in order to direct the attack, capturing two strongly fortified farmhouses and advancing his line for a distance of four kilometers. After gaining the position he remained on duty for two days without food, despite the fact that he had been wounded and gassed."

Awarded

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS AND OAK LEAF CLUSTER

"For extraordinary heroism in action near Soissons, France, July 21, 1918, and near Hill 272, October 9, 1918. Lieut.-Col. Ryder, then captain, took command of the front-line units and reorganized them under heavy artillery and machine-gun fire. Although wounded in the early operations, he remained in command and directed the attack until all objectives had been taken.

A bronze oak-leaf cluster is awarded Lieut.-Col. Ryder, then major, for the following act of extraordinary heroism in action near Fléville, France, October 9, 1918; In the attack on Hill 272, after all his runners had been killed or wounded, while trying to establish liaison with the front-line companies, he advanced alone and personally directed the action of his command, although under direct fire from two enemy machine guns. He later personally led the final assault on Hill 272, thereby making possible the success of the entire attack."

KILLED IN ACTION, SEPT. 12, 1918: AGED 28.

Portrait and obituary in Annual Report, Association of Graduates, for 1919.

Awarded posthumously

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS.

"For extraordinary heroism in action near Château Thierry, France, night of July 14-15, 1918. During the bombardment preceding the enemy attack across the Marne the position of Battery A, 18th Field Artillery, was subjected to a heavy artillery fire for a period of four hours. All communications were destroyed and the ammunition dump destroyed by hostile fire. Throughout the enemy bombardment Capt. Harvey kept his battery in action, exposing himself to concentrated enemy artillery fire in order to replenish his ammunition supply, and delivered an effective fire on the enemy."

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS.

"For extraordinary heroism in action in the Belleau Woods, France, June 12-15, 1918. In order to consolidate the position of his brigade Maj. Snow personally led one company of his battalion through a heavy barrage. After passing through the barrage he discovered that part of his company had become separated because of the violent fire. He returned through the barrage, and, in so doing, was wounded in the neck. After having his wound dressed at the aid station, he refused to go to the rear, but went back and conducted the remainder of the men through the barrage. Despite his wound, he remained on duty for 16 hours until ordered to the rear."

Awarded
DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL.

"For exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services. In command of a battery and subsequently a battalion of the 17th Field Artillery, he gave proof of high qualities of leadership and military attainments, notably during the operations near Soissons in July, 1918, when he skillfully maneuvered his battalion in front of the infantry under machine-gun fire from the enemy with but few casualties to his command. Later he rendered valuable and loyal service as chief of staff to the chief of artillery, 6th Army Corps."

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

"For gallantry and devotion to duty whilst attached to this Brigade since the 23rd of September. On the 29th September and 8th October, he went in a wireless tank, following close up to the battle with the 301st American Tank Battalion, and getting back the most valuable information regarding the progress of the tanks. He carried out several reconnoissances and obtained exceedingly valuable information before the battle. On the 8th October at Brancourt, he left his tank to go and reconnoitre the eastern edge of the village which was the limit of the first objective. He found our Infantry hard pressed, reported it by wireless, assisted in repelling a counter attack and was able to locate two hostile guns (which were shelling the village) to our gunners who successfully silenced them. He has displayed the most remarkable energy and initiative."

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS.

"For extraordinary heroism in action near Moulins, France, July 14-15, 1918. Seeing his right flank badly exposed to the enemy's advance across the Marne, Lieut. Barber changed the position of two of his guns to meet this emergency, performing this during terrific enemy fire. He then ran a distance of 150 yards in the open to stop the fire of our infantry on our troops. Going forward to the aid of a wounded soldier, Lieut. Barber administered first aid and was carrying the man to safety when the latter died. Picking up the one remaining undamaged gun, he opened fire on the enemy, who were crossing the river, sinking one boat, killing many, and causing the others to abandon their boats."

DIED, NOV. 21, 1918, IN FRANCE: AGED 21.

Awarded posthumously

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS.

"For extraordinary heroism in action at Sergy, France, July 29-30, 1918. When the company on the left of his own had fallen back, leaving a gap through which the enemy was approaching for a counterattack, Capt. Norton, with the remnants of two squads, formed an automatic-rifle post and successfully covered the withdrawal of the remainder of his command to a stronger line of resistance. Though his small group was almost annihilated by hostile fire, he held this position until the arrival of reinforcements, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy."
